Worth a Look!

Just 13 miles East on 1-80 is the small town of West Branch, Iowa. Birthplace of native President Herbert Hoover.

While there is no official tour planned as part of the Iowa Auto Recyclers Summer Outing, if you have time to visit West Branch, it is worth a look!

Sixteen of the buildings in the quaint downtown are on the historic registry.

The Presidential Library just opened a traveling exhibit, the CSPAN American Presidents Life Portrait Exhibit that compliments the incredible museum.

The Herbert Hoover National Historic Site and the grounds of the exhibit really steal the scene.

The 81 acres of tallgrass prairie reconstructed there offer a glimpse of an Iowa landscape that had almost vanished by the time Herbert Hoover's grandparents moved there in 1854. Prior to the settlement of West Branch, prairie covered 85 percent of Iowa. Trees were scarce until planted; the Hoovers imported lumber from farther north for construction of the president's birthplace. Tall native grasses, sprinkled with brilliantly colored wildflowers once covered these rolling hills for as far as the eye could see. The grounds provide trails for strolling and the bloom is lovely this time of year.

President Hoover Museum West Branch, Iowa

The Herbert Hoover Presidential Library & Museum is the also the final resting place of Herbert Clark Hoover, the 31st President of the United States (1929–1933), located on the grounds of the Herbert Hoover National Historic Site in historic West Branch, Iowa. The library is one of 13 presidential libraries run by the National Archives and Records Administration.
